How AMWSA can help?

There are a number of ways the Ahmadi Muslim Women Students' Association (AMWSA) can support you in finding a university course. AMWSA has been assisting at the annual AMA Careers Fair, hosted at the Baitul Futuh Mosque in London, consistently over the last few years. Representatives from AMWSA, studying in courses ranging from medicine and sciences, to politics and the humanities, are on hand at our stalls to offer you one-to-one advice and answer your questions about their courses and specialisms.

Aside from our presence at the careers fair and other Jama'at events, AMWSA has a large network of girls studying in a variety of courses at universities across the UK, which is growing in number each year. Within this network, there are many girls who are willing to share their knowledge and first-hand experience on all student related topics, such as what it's like to study a specific degree or at a particular university, how to attain the requirements you need, what university assignments are like and how to manage them alongside Jama'at and extracurricular activities, and much more.

Finally, once you have made your choice on what courses to apply for, we have a team dedicated to checking personal statements and assisting you through you university application, and we also offer interview prep for girls who wish to study medicine.

If you would like our help at any stage of your application process, email us at amwsa@lajnauk.org and we will be more than happy to support you in any way we can. All the best with your future studies!
